Description

A black tailcoat features six decorative black buttons placed diagonally across the front panels of the coat forming a "V." The black coattails include two buttons placed above them approximately five and a half inches apart. The cuffs of the coat include two decorative black buttons on each side. The peak-lapelled coat incorporates three pockets: one on the front right breast below the lapel, and two interior pockets on the black inside lining of each breast. The long vent that creates the coattails reaches to the cropped front of the coat. Two darts are diagonally placed on either side that extend five and a half inches from the bottom of the shortened front of the coat to the first button from the top of the coat. The coat is lined with black satin.
